

For product identification, traceability and process flow control, people will mark PCB boards with a label, usually this is done by hand, so the labor costs is very high, also placement accuracy can be questionable. Or you can buy a machine to pick and place these labels automatically, but the cost is very high and it occupy an additional factory floor space.

Now we have developed a automatic SMT label feeder, it can solve all these problems. It is just the same as a feeder for your existing placement machines, it can peel and present the label stock, your placement machines can pick and place these labels from this label feeder, this approach is more productive and faster than hand placement. It is no longer necessary to hand place labels or other adhesive backed media. Automate your process while improving placement accuracy, speed and quality.

We have three Liner(web) width for this SMT label feeder, 50mm, 85mm and 100mm, also we can make customized Liner Width as your request, so our SMT label feeder can peel and present more than 2 labels at one time, so it is more efficient and productive.
